PHS Job 2902

Perfect Household Staff is seeking a highly skilled and professional Travelling Butler with proven experience working aboard a motor yacht, as this is a key requirement for the role. This unique position offers the opportunity to provide exceptional service while travelling extensively with the principal, who frequently spends significant time aboard a 100-metre superyacht. The Travelling Butler must seamlessly adapt to the dynamic environment of the yacht, ensuring all aspects of daily life and travel logistics are meticulously arranged—from coordinating yacht crew and guest services to managing the principal's needs both on board and during international trips.

The household operates multiple residences and business interests across Europe, Asia, and the United States, requiring the Travelling Butler to transition seamlessly between locations while maintaining impeccable service standards across all environments.

The successful candidate will be responsible for coordinating all aspects of travel logistics, including flight bookings, private aviation, ground transportation, and ensuring that all packing, unpacking, documents, and personal items are meticulously prepared and in order. Additionally, the role involves overseeing the preparation and presentation of meals, working closely with chefs to meet dietary preferences, managing wardrobe requirements, and providing impeccable table service.

Beyond travel logistics, the Travelling Butler will also support the principal's business operations. This includes ensuring meeting venues are set up to the highest standard, liaising with office staff, assisting with document preparation, and arranging refreshments for corporate functions. The Travelling Butler will also ensure the principal's work environment remains organised, professional, and discreet, particularly when handling sensitive business matters.

The position requires working closely with security teams, household staff, yacht crew, and personal assistants to ensure smooth coordination of activities and exceptional service. A proven background in working aboard a motor yacht is essential, as the role requires seamless service delivery both on land and at sea. The ideal candidate will demonstrate the ability to adapt to diverse environments while maintaining professionalism, discretion, and exceptional organisational skills.

Fluency in English is required, with proficiency in additional European languages considered an advantage. A valid passport and the ability to obtain necessary travel visas are essential. The role offers a competitive salary, formal employment contract, paid annual leave, and bank holidays.

This position presents an exciting long-term opportunity for a highly experienced and dedicated Travelling Butler to join a distinguished UHNW private household, providing exceptional service across a range of global locations.
