This position involves caring for two young boys aged 8 months and 2 years within a fully staffed, high-profile household. The ideal candidate will possess a strong educational background, an excellent command of English, and demonstrable experience in providing exceptional childcare within a formal, international setting.

The working schedule is Monday to Saturday, with flexibility required to accommodate the family's needs and routine. Time off will be provided throughout the week as well as on designated working days when possible.

The household will cover all relocation costs, health insurance, and visa application expenses. In addition to a competitive, tax-free salary of up to £4,000 net per month, the position includes paid annual leave of 24 working days, in accordance with UAE legislation. A uniform will be provided, and the nanny will be working alongside other professional household staff, including a housekeeper, chef, and drivers.
