LIVE OUT / LIVE IN HOUSEKEEPER JOBS | JERSEY, CHANNEL ISLANDS
Salary: up to £ 50,000 annually gross

PHS Job 3138

Perfect Household Staff are pleased to present a wonderful opportunity within a warm and welcoming household situated in the heart of picturesque Jersey. This family home is non-formal and relaxed, yet refined in style, offering an elegant environment where smart attire is preferred, though no uniform is required. The residence is a spacious two-floor property, comprising five bedrooms, six bathrooms, and three inviting living areas. The family plan to relocate to another home early next year, and suitable accommodation will be provided once the move has been completed. In the interim, the successful candidate will need to arrange private lodgings locally until the transition is finalised.

The family consists of parents, their children, and a dedicated nanny, together with a gentle red retriever and a magnificent giant Maine Coon cat. The position requires a candidate who is naturally good with children, ideally holding a basic childcare qualification, as they will be asked to support the nanny when she is not available for any reason, including covering two weekends per month. During these periods, the successful applicant will also take responsibility for pet care, including walking the dog once daily at weekends for at least forty minutes, as well as overseeing the animals' needs when the nanny is away.

The household values organisation and efficiency, and the role will encompass the full spectrum of housekeeping responsibilities, including general cleaning, laundry, ironing, and changing beds on a weekly basis. Children's laundry will fall within the candidate's remit, as well as occasional support in the kitchen: although the nanny handles cooking duties during the week, the candidate will be asked to prepare simple family meals from time to time. Driving is essential, as the position involves school runs, family errands, and taking the dog for outings by car. An electric vehicle will be provided for professional use.

The role is offered on a four-day working schedule (Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday) in addition to two weekends per month, with family mealtimes on Sundays forming part of the household routine instead of entertainment, and the candidate's assistance may be required during the weekends when they are on duty. The placement is due to commence on 4th November, with the aim of appointing the right candidate before Christmas for a long-term commitment. The family seek someone honest, open, and genuinely caring, who is comfortable participating in family life while also respecting the household's rhythm.

The contract will be directly with the client, who will process wages and taxes. Please note that a pension is not included. Annual leave and holidays will be provided, and occasional international travel may be required.

This is a unique opportunity for a professional with strong housekeeping experience, proven childcare skills, and the adaptability to thrive in a non-formal yet highly refined household. It is vital that the candidate wishes to become a true part of the family and is ready for a long-term engagement.
